And the jury declared that state laws regulating purchasing methods "are vague, subject to widely different construction, to provide a variety of loopholes, lack uniformity and are in general, inadequate."

Know Your Income Tax Deductions

(Editor's note: This is the fifth of 12 stories explaining who has to do what about his 1936 income tax return.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 9 — (AP) — This is a brief explanation of what — in making your 1936 income tax return — you can and can't deduct as personal expenses and what income is taxable and tax-free.

Remember: There's a difference between deductions for personal expenses — like charitable contributions, medical care, or interest on a home mortgage — and business expenses of a professional man or a man in business for himself.

The man in business for himself must list his business deductions on "schedule C," a single sheet. He is allowed both business and personal deductions. He lists the latter on form 1040, page 3. So he uses both schedule C and form 1040.

A person who is an employee of someone else uses form 1040 and, if his deductions are larger than the standard deductions allowed anyone for personal expenses, he itemizes them on page 3.

Thus a reporter working for a newspaper may want to deduct interest on his mortgage or what he paid for professional magazines he needs in his work. He'd list those deductions on page 3.

All a follows deals entirely with personal, not business, deductions:

You can deduct for medical and dental expenses but only that part which exceeds 5 percent of your income. (This is treated more fully at the end of this story.)

And you can't exceed 15 percent of your income in deducting for contributions to charitable, religious, fraternal, veteran and scientific organizations or to non-profit hospitals and educational institutions and societies like those for tuberculosis, cancer, heart disease.

But here are deductions you can claim without limit:

State income and personal property and real estate taxes except those which, like paving assessments, tend to improve the value of your property.

Also — Dues to a labor union, interest on your personal note to a bank or individual, interest on a mortgage on your house; interest on delinquent taxes; interest on installment purchases (but not carrying charges).

You can deduct state or local retail sales taxes, auto license fees (but not auto inspection fees), poll taxes, and at 40 cents a year, except taxes, and state gasoline taxes except in California, Florida, Louisiana, North Dakota, Utah, Wyoming and Hawaii.

You can deduct for loss of your property from theft, fire, storm or other natural causes; and for an auto accident if you weren't willfully at fault. "Willfully" is the important word there — and didn't get paid for the damage.

And you can deduct for use of your car for business; entertaining for business purposes; subscriptions to professional journals, books and magazines bought for use in your profession; equipment, tools and instruments used on your job; and cost of work clothes and uniforms when they can't be used to take the place of ordinary clothes.

Here are things which you can't deduct:

Gifts to relatives or friends or other individuals, or to propaganda organizations; political organizations or candidates, social clubs, labor unions or chambers of commerce.

And, unless you paid out the money for business purposes, you can not deduct for government excise taxes, such as on telephones, telegrams, railroad or bus tickets. And you cannot deduct for federal excise taxes on furs, jewelry or cosmetics.

You can not deduct for your social security tax; for property lost in storage or transit; animals or plants damaged or destroyed by disease; hunting licenses; water taxes; or taxes paid by you for another person.

Here's income which must be reported and therefore is taxable: Wages; salaries; bonuses, commissions and tips; gambling winnings; prizes won in radio quiz contests; dividends and other earnings from investments; interest from bonds, loans, rents; royalties from property, patents or copyrights; profits from business or profession or the sales of real estate, securities and autos; profits from a share in a partnership; interest on tax refunds; awards; gratuities (whether from a customer or an employer); or profits

DOROTHY DIX Try Silence

Dear Miss Dix: Don't you believe that half the trouble in the world comes from talk. Don't you think silence would avert many a tragedy and save many a divorce? Do you remember the old story of the bride who consulted a wise woman about how to live in peace with her husband and was given a magic pebble to hold in her mouth whenever a quarrel started? The tale is so true that the pebble, only to be told that it was just an ordinary pebble and its virtue consisted in the fact that she could not talk while she held it in her mouth, and so all arguments between herself and her husband died a natural death. Why talk about unpleasant things which can't be remedied?

PEACE LOVER

Answer: You are quite right in saying that talk stirs up more trouble, brings on more wars, wrecks more homes and breaks more hearts than any other one thing in the world. The tongue is a far more lethal weapon than the sword.

Of course, I know reciting their tales of woe is the chief indoor sport of a lot of people, especially women, who get a kick out of proclaiming their secret sorrows to the world. Why, one wonders since talk is no remedy for trouble. It only depresses the unhappy listener and makes his or her own burden harder to bear.

First Aid To Divorce

It is also only too true that talk is first aid to divorce, and that what we need more than anything else in the world is a supply of pebbles for the use of arguing husbands and wives. For it is when a married couple start in to debate some subject on which they do not agree that one word leads on to another until they say the things that they cannot forgive and that kills love.

It is literally true that it takes two to make a quarrel, and any husband and any wife could stop a family fight in its first round by a little judicious use of silence. Thousands of homes could be saved from wreckage, thousands of children could be saved the misery of being brought up in turbulent households if only husbands and wives wouldn't give each other

Certainly in this restless, noise-ridden age a lot is to be said for silence. No people are more popular than those who are listeners instead of talkers, and no friends are so congenial as those with whom we can spend hours without a word being said.

Dear Miss Dix: My sister, aged 40, has come to make her home with us. We do not expect her to pay board but what is driving us from the income of a trust or estate.

Here is income which doesn't have to be reported and is tax-free:

Unemployment compensation; social security benefits; life insurance paid because of the death of the insured; gifts to you; or inheritance, or bequests of property or money (although any income from them is taxable); sickness and injury benefits received through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation laws; benefits received under the railroad retirement act.

Although you can claim for medical expenses only that part which exceeds 5 percent of your income — for yourself, wife and dependents — there are other limitations: If you claim money one exemption on your tax return, you can't get more than $1,250 in such deductions; if you are a single person or a married person filing a separate return and claim more than one exemption, you can't deduct more than $2,500; if you're a married couple, filing a joint return, you can deduct no more than $2,500 if two exemptions are claimed; no more than $3,750 if there are three exemptions; and no more than $5,000 if there are four or more exemptions.

You can deduct payments to doctors, dentists, nurses, hospitals; or for drugs, medical or surgical appliances, braces, eyeglasses, artificial teeth, crutches, hearing aids, ambulance service, travel necessary to get medical care, and premiums on health and accident insurance (but not premiums on life insurance.)

You cannot deduct for funeral expenses, a cemetery plot, illegal operations or drugs, or travel ordered by a doctor for rest or change.

The tax problems — including tax free income — of servicemen and their families will be dealt with in another story.

25 Years Ago Today From Files of Star of Hope

February 9, 1926

W. S. Atkins, well known attorney of Hope, today filed his candidacy for prosecuting attorney of the eighth judicial circuit with the Secretary of State.

Lester Cox and family are now residents of Hope. Mr. Cox has accepted a position with a wholesale company here.

Mrs. Robert Campbell was hostess yesterday to the Tuesday Bridge Club. The Valentine motif was carried out in the decorations.

Mrs. Garrett Story will entertain the Friday Bridge Club Friday afternoon.

to distraction it that day after day she sits at home, so that my husband feels as if he was married to both of us. He won't even go out, she makes for an hour or two, she houses no attempt to get work, though she could find some sort of job if she tried. She is just satisfied to let us support her. It is getting so I hate the sight of her, simply because we see too much of one another. We don't mind providing for her as much as having her always under foot. What must we do?

Answer: There is nothing you can do except to tell her frankly that two is company and three is a crowd, in a home as elsewhere, and help her to establish herself in some other place. But that is no easy task. For it is difficult to tell one you are fond of and sorry that she is a nuisance around the house and that better if only you didn't have to see her and listen to her every day.

There is no more difficult problem to solve than that of parasite relatives, because once they attach themselves to you it is impossible to dislodge them without not only making enemies of them, but causing everybody to think you are heartless and cruel. They can never see why you object to supporting them, because, as they aver, they take up so little space and there was nobody in your spare room, and they eat so little you want your house to yourself.

And it never occurs to them that you want your house to yourself and that you and your husband enjoy being together.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am in love with and am considering marrying a girl who has had a hectic past. She has had six affairs with that many different men. Three of the men she expected to marry, but they jilted her. She says she has no regrets for her experiences. I am no angel myself, but do you think I will be safe in trusting such a girl for the future?

Answer: There is nothing to be alarmed about in the situation. A woman, may through the stress of passion or circumstance step off the strait and narrow road and win her way back with repentance and tears. You may trust her never to sin again, but not the woman who has taken many excursions down the primrose path and who regards them as mere episodes.

U. S. Prepares to Unfreeze Clothes

Washington, Feb. 8 — (AP) — The government is almost ready to unfreeze the retail prices of men's clothes, women's clothes, cosmetics, furniture, rugs, lamps, pots and pans. One immediate result will be lots of price rises.

In place of the present tight freeze on those and similar items, the office of price stabilization (OPS) will restrict the percentage of "margin" between what the retailer pays and what he receives.

OPS officials said the new regulation will probably be issued late this week or early next week. It will be the first of a series of "margin" type orders which were promised when the temporary price freeze of Jan. 25 was announced.

Here is why price rises are expected: The new regulation will enable retailers to pass on to their customers many increases that wholesalers had put into effect before the Jan. 25 freeze date.

Governor economists say a certain amount of that must occur to prevent a intolerable squeeze on retailers whose costs have gone up.

They say this is one thing Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston had in mind yesterday when he predicted the cost of living will continue to rise for a few more months and then level off by mid-summer.

OPS officials also hope to lower prices in some cases by rolling back the size of margins to a selected date. To illustrate, if a retailer's margin on a particular item was 40 per cent on the selected date, and he has since raised it to 45 per cent, he would have to cut it back to 40.

OPS Director Michael V. Dill said in a radio interview broadcast last night that the OPS would "somewhat attempt" to fix margins as they existed before the Kovent outbreak last June, and he thought maybe there would be "astonishing" results in some industries.

But this didn't amount to a definite promise to roll back any margins to pre-Kovent levels, and the question is still under debate. Moreover DISALE apparently was talking about later orders — not the one about to be issued on clothing and house furnishings.

Meanwhile DISALE and Johnston had their staffs busy preparing reports on food prices for Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Mae West in 'Diamond Lil' at L. R. Feb. 14

Mae Kapus and Jack Small, under the local sponsorship of Metropolitan Attractions, will present Mae West in a revival of her most famous stage hit, "Diamond Lil," at the Robinson Auditorium, Little Rock, at 8:30 February 14.

Miss West stars in the famous comedy of her own authorship, dealing with the romance of a lady of questionable virtue and a handsome Salvation Army Captain. The play, with a cast of fifty, has broken records in London and is coming here after long runs in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other large cities.

In the show Miss West wears many real gems in addition to five thousand dollars worth of costume jewelry. Just lately she added the famous Maximilian diamond to her collection and wears the famous gem during the second act which takes place in "Diamond Lil's" boudoir.

The insurance company producing the show's collection has employed two of the actors in the cast just to protect this famous 33 carat stone, valued at $125,000 which was discovered in the Brazilian mountains in 1850.

7 Die in Train, Bus Collision in Canada

Sudbury, Ont., Feb. 8 — (AP) — A Canadian Pacific railway passenger train struck the rear end of a loaded bus at a crossing seven miles east of here today, killing eight men and injuring 22.

The crash occurred in 47-below zero weather and fog shrouded the region with visibility down to 100 yards or less.

First reports from the scene said the train, out of Montreal, stopped about a half mile from the point of the accident to let off some passengers and was just picking up speed when it struck the rear of the bus. The train was running late.

The bus, owned by the Nickel Belt coach lines, was carrying ten men to the International Nickel plant at Coniston. The driver, Edward Garriere, was not hurt.

Revolt in Italian Red Ranks

Rome, Feb. 8 — (AP) — Communists Boss Palmiro Togliatti won reported victory from Moscow today, but the growing revolt in Italian Communist ranks against Soviet leadership.

Three more high-ranking Reds announced their resignation last night in what was said to be a stampede to quit party. Two other top officials, numerous less important members resigned in the past weeks.

Togliatti, who has been in Moscow for two months for "reasons of health," had kept touch of the recent developments by regular telephone calls from Moscow and had formed a nucleus of loyalists around him.

The latest to quit the party were Riccardo Cozzani, a former Italian minister and president of the Reggio Emilia cooperative, and Scipio Sgarbi, a prominent figure in the Italian Communist movement.

Also resigning were Aldo Moro, a prominent figure in the Italian Communist movement, and Valdo Magnani, an Italian Communist leader who also resigned his resignation.

Vignoli, in resigning, said he tore up his 1931 membership card before the strike of Communist cells. Cozzani also tore up his card before the Communist cell.

Russo sent telegram to stand against Soviet direction, and Cuccini, backing stand against Soviet direction, accused the party of infidelity of members who disagreed with Moscow's official party line.

Rome were unable to get the walkouts and there were differences over whether a "deviationist" should be expelled.

STYLE AND POWER FEATURED IN 1951 CHRYSLERS

The 1951 Chrysler New Yorker Newport with new fender line that accentuates its low sleek beauty, and massive front-end that typifies the power and luxury of the new Chrysler line.

Interior of the 1951 Chrysler New Yorker Newport features rich appointments, extra roominess. Upholstery and trim selections are available in colorful, durable and luxurious combinations of leather and nylon cord.

View of the new Chrysler "FirePower" engine. Conservatively rated at 180-horsepower, the new 8-cylinder powerplant is a 90-degree valve-in-head V-type engine.

Detroit, February 8. — Handed by a new 180-horsepower V-8 "FirePower" engine, the most powerful passenger car powerplant manufactured in the industry, an impressive list of 73 major engineering advances are incorporated in the 1951 line announced today by the Chrysler Division of the Chrysler Corporation.

Supplementing the mechanical improvements, the new Chrysler line has been completely restyled, inside and out, with each model given individual distinctiveness. The cars go on display in Chrysler dealerships on February 10, and at Nunn-McDowell Motor Co. in Hope.

Styling changes include a new wide, sloping hood that helps to increase driver visibility; new front fenders; new front and rear ornamentation; new front and rear fender moldings; and a belt molding that now completely encircles the car. The new wrap-around "Clearbac" window is now used on all models, resulting in an increase of 201.7 square inches, or 30 per cent, in rear-window area as compared to 1950 models that did not have this feature.

Interior styling includes improvements in upholstery, trim, and accessories with an unusually wide choice of luxurious materials.

Mechanical improvements include, in addition to the V-8 engine, outstanding among the new offerings are the "Oriflow" shock absorber, "Hydraguide" power steering mechanism, "Fluid Torque Drive" torque converter and air-cooled brakes on models using the disc-type brake.

The new "FirePower" will be installed in all New Yorker and Imperial models, while the power steering unit and torque converter will be standard in the two other cars powered by the latest Imperial and available new V-8 engine. The shock absorber is standard throughout the line.

The "FirePower" engine, which is the 90-degree, overhead-valve type, has a bore of 3-15-16 inches and a stroke of 3-5-8 inches, giving a piston displacement of 331 cubic inches. Although its displacement is only 2.3 per cent greater than that of the in-line eight engine used in 1950 Chryslers, it develops 33 per cent more maximum horsepower and 18 per cent more maximum torque.

Weight of the complete engine with transmission has been decreased eight per cent and fuel economy improved approximately 10 per cent. An excellent detuning-free performance is secured with regular grades of commercial gasoline. The new design also produces remarkable freedom from deleterious deposits.

New Combustion Chamber. Superior performance of the "FirePower" engine is due primarily to the hemispherical shape of the combustion chamber and overhead lateral valve arrangement. The hemispherical combustion chamber had long been recognized by engineers as the ideal and had been used effectively in airplane engines and high-output power plants installed in a few specially-built European cars. The development of an ingenious lateral valve arrangement, with very high lift and extra large valves and ports, enabled Chrysler Corporation engineers to adapt the hemispherical combustion to a safe distance and new demand a fabulous sum as settlement for lost lease accounts with Russia. These circles were declared in violation of the neutrality laws which have sought the partition of Russia and the Soviet Union.

American were depicted as authors of atrocities in Korea and elsewhere, more than those committed by the 50 million during the Second World War. They were alleged to be intriguing in Japan, Western Germany, Japan, and South America in efforts to bring about a new world war against the USSR.

These leaders were asserted to be the cause of the American people's economic taxation burdens and the American nation's loss of its freedom in order to force war preparations to a new high.

tion chamber for the first time to a production car. Improved manifold and high mechanical efficiency are other features of the new engine.

The new Oriflow shock absorber incorporates new principles of controlling fluid flow to regulate the resistance developed by the shock absorbers under varying conditions. The result is greater ride softness on average roads and freedom from much of the jolting discomforts on rough roads.

Power Steering. The Hydraguide power steering mechanism reduces the manual effort of steering by about four-fifths. It also promotes safety, greatly reducing wheel shock with out changing the driver's technique or his relative feel for all driving conditions.

The Fluid-Torque Drive torque converter, used in conjunction with the V-8 engine and M-6 automatic transmission, provides smoother and more powerful starting and greater acceleration than any other car on the road. It is of the four-element type.

Forced-air cooling for the disc-type brakes that are standard on the two largest Chrysler Imperials gives longer brake-lining life and increased braking effect during high-speed stops. It reduces internal brake temperatures up to 35 per cent.

"Fluid-Matic Drive," a combination of Chrysler's famous Fluid Drive and the improved M-6 transmission, will be standard on all 1951 models powered by the V-8 engine save the Imperial eight-passenger sedan and limousine, on which Fluid-Torque Drive is used.

Chrysler's famous "Spitfire" engine, developing 170 horsepower at 3600 r. p. m., is used to power the Windsor and Windsor Deluxe models. This engine, used in conjunction with "Fluid-Matic Drive," combines power, smoothness, flexibility and economy. In the 1951 models, it has been refined and improved to increase its already very high efficiency. "Fluid-Matic Drive" is standard equipment on the Windsor Deluxe and may be had on the Windsor at extra cost. A standard transmission also is available on the Windsor.

Four models are listed, as follows: Windsor with four body styles; Windsor Deluxe with seven body styles; New Yorker with four body styles; and Imperial with six body styles.

Small Business Must Get in Or Close Shop

New Orleans, Feb. 8. — (AP) — Small businesses must find themselves a niche in the nation's mobilization economy or close their doors, says Harry E. Blythe, assistant secretary of defense.

Blythe, who is also advisor to the chairman of the munitions board, sounded that warning in a small business clinic question-and-answer period yesterday.

One of the questions posed to the panel of government experts on defense contracts was: "Some of us would have to resort to get into manufacturing for the government but others are set up and ready to go. Will we be forced to close our doors because our competitors have the jump on us?"

"Unless you can convert and find your place in the mobilization economy you would have to close your doors," Blythe answered. "That is not a side remark, either," he added.

Elaborating, Blythe said "of course if full mobilization comes the country would utilize every foot of space and every machine," but that in the current "one-third" mobilization effort the crimp is put on the man who cannot manufacture for defense or without critical materials.

The small business clinic which completed a three-day Louisiana schedule here last night, has been touring the nation to tell small businesses how to bid on government contracts.

Senate Ready to Call Youths to Service

Washington, Feb. 9. — (AP) — The senate preparedness subcommittee appeared ready to go along today with Secretary of Defense Marshall's proposal for drafting 18-year-olds.

Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) called for two closed-door sessions in hopes of winding up the group's month-long labor over a universal military service and training (UMST) bill which calls for lowering the minimum draft age to 18.

The house armed services committee, working on similar legislation, is currently in recess. Secretary Marshall spent two and a half hours with the senate group yesterday. He told reporters later: "We made very good progress."

Johnson said only two points remained unsettled: 1. The length of required service. It is now 21 months, the Pentagon asked six additional months or 27, and the subcommittee talked about 24 months "exclusive of leave."

2. A request of national guard and reserve officer spokesmen for continuance of their right to accept some 18 year olds who would then be exempted from the draft. Johnson said Marshall had agreed that many additional men in the present draft pool of 19 through 25 years would be called to duty soon.

Some of these now classed as "I-Fs" would be called up by lowering present physical and mental standards. Others are young husbands without children who are not veterans.

Some childless husbands have been called and Johnson said orders to call additional thousands "are in the mill now."

Terms Taft's Suggestion Unworkable

Washington, Feb. 9. — (AP) — Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) called "unworkable and impractical" today a plan by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to pin down American troop quotas for Europe's defense.

And Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) wondered if Taft was laying down "a challenge for 1952" in criticizing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's report on the West's military prospects and questioning the general's status as North Atlantic commander.

Both Taft and Eisenhower have been mentioned as possible GOP presidential candidates next year. The Ohio senator took sharp issue with the general in a senate speech yesterday. He said Eisenhower submitted a "hazy" report on European defense and exaggerated "the danger of an unsuccessful war in Europe."

Taft accused President Truman of claiming dictatorial powers to send troops to defend Europe against communism. And he said the administration was concealing from the people and congress just how many troops the U. S. and other nations are to furnish for the international defense army headed

Edean Anderson Leads Meet at Palm Beach

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 9. — (AP) — Medalist Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., led into the second round of the 27th annual Palm Beach Women's amateur golf.

The attractive Montana miss defeated Evelyn Odom of Miami, 2 and 1, in yesterday's first round match, played in a wind that reached 40 miles an hour.

by Eisenhower. Taft proposed that the U. S. contribute only one division for every nine put up by European nations.

McMahon, a foreign relations committee member who proposed that congress make a peace gesture to the Russian people, called the ratio proposal "typical Taft approach."

"We're talking about the security and safety of this country, not the convenience of anybody else," McMahon told reporters. Sparkman said in an interview that if it comes to a contest between Eisenhower and Taft on military recommendations, he will follow the general and not the senator.

Taft got backing, however, from Senators Ferguson (R-Mich.), Thye (R-Minn.) and Knowland (R-Calif.) for his demand that details of the project for bolstering Western Europe's defense be laid before congress.

Taft, who heads his party's senate policy committee, told a newsmen his chief objective in making yesterday's speech was to lay the groundwork for a fight against any "vague" resolution which might approve in only general terms the sending of troops abroad.

Bitter Cold Hits Sections of the U. S.

By The Associated Press

A mass of cold air covered most of the nation today but there were signs of a break on the western edge.

The wintry siege held firm from Minnesota to Maine. Tomahawk, Wis., had a frigid -42. Land of the Sky, W. Va., and Caribou, Me., felt the pinch of -30.

Thermometers fell to -30 in northern New York and hit marks well below zero in much of the state. The minus 39 was registered at Tupper lake in the Adirondacks.

Freezing as low as -14 were reported in northwestern New Jersey. New York city experienced its coldest snap of the year. The minimum, reached early in the day, was 11.4 above zero. Newark's minimum, 11 above, was the second lowest of 1951.

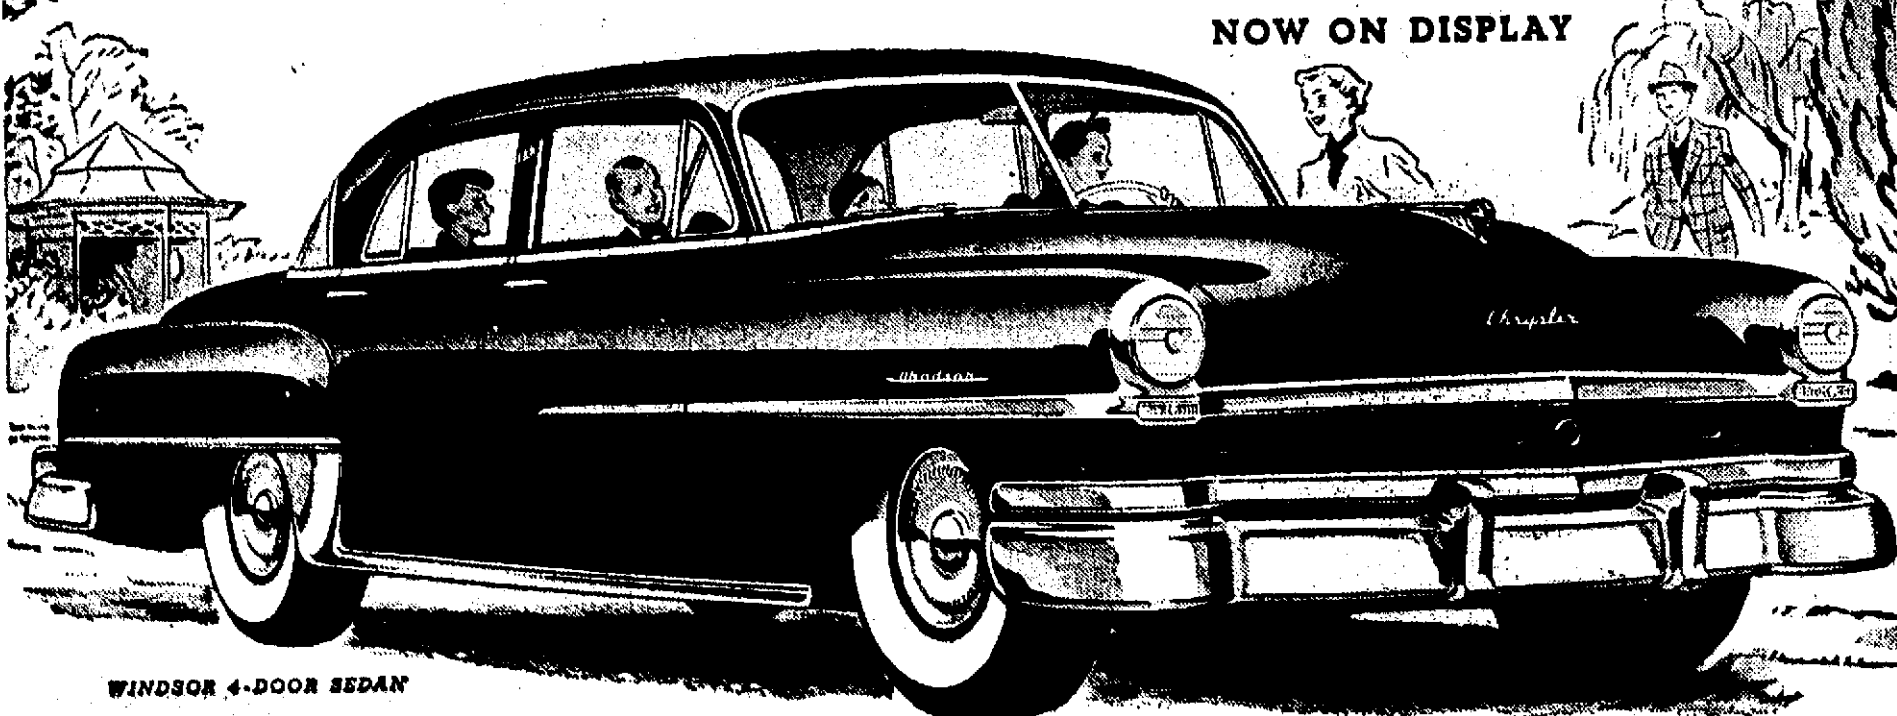

Sub-zero cold blanketed the territory stretching from the Dakotas to the great lakes. Chicago had a low of -7.
